The ‘Get Inspired’ Concept

Infusing a space with a touch of inspiration can renew energy, create positive attitudes, and boost productivity by motivating you, your staff, your clientele, and those with whom you share your space. We react to the things we see, and the things we see everyday shape our mindsets. For example, we know that the color blue relaxes and the color green revitalizes. Images and words also significantly affect our environment and our reaction to it.

Seeing beautifully crafted inspirational messages everyday can reinforce positive thinking and have an integral effect on well-being and motivation. Recent studies have shown that positive images can actually increase our focus by up to 10% and that positive reinforcement improves performance. So how do you create the right environment in a budget-friendly way?

Give your space a motivational makeover with the “Get Inspired” line of frames; inspirational messages coupled with stunning photography, legally procured from aspiring photographers.

These framed inspirations can boost positivity and productivity to bring about results in the workplace. The “Get Inspired” frames provide an alternative to traditional, solely aesthetic art and they are tailored to the needs of your space and the culture and values you want to foster in it.

What can the ‘Get Inspired’ frames do for you?

- Communicate your organization’s core values effectively and beautifully.
- Inspire people to persevere at work, reach a health goal, or even strike up a conversation with someone at the next table.
- Create a harmonious, serene, or friendly setting, with a touch of high quality photography.

Inspiring You

Tailored for your business or organization

Daily messages of motivation help establish the type of culture that influences employee behavior for the better. When an employee is motivated, he or she is more productive, more passionate, and takes more pride in their work. Revitalize your workplace by subtly improving your employees' mindset and communicating your company's core values to them.

The 'Get Inspired' frames are customized to fit your business needs and to reflect your company's philosophy. These are not generic motivational messages, but are created and chosen with you to reach the goals you hope to achieve in your organization. Communicate your core values, such as teamwork, excellence, leadership, and innovation with breathtaking photography and inspirational messages to not only your staff, but also your clients. What better way to institutionalize your organizational ideals? Which is why we have chosen to decorate the walls of the Beyond Learning offices with our very own framed inspirations.

Customized for an educational setting

Add motivational art to your school, library, university, or any other educational institution to help keep your students and staff motivated. Craft the type of culture you want among your community and remind staff, students, parents, and administration of the ideas that you think are needed to produce excellence, respect, hard work, pride, and leadership. The messages we see daily become ingrained in us, which is why it is important to sow the right seeds in our youth and those who educate them.

Personalized for the Café, Gym, or Home

Our 'Get Inspired' Frames work equally well to create the right milieu in your home, in a gym, or in a café where people come to socialize or work. Add a stylishly presented touch of photography to brighten your space, with the messages you choose to trigger the atmosphere that suits you. Whether you would choose messages and images of love, laughter, achievement, enjoyment, or concentration, the frames blend nicely into any space and with most styles of décor. You can also decide to add a touch of color to the framed inspirations to align them with your décor.

Beyond Learning

The concept of 'Get Inspired' is closely tied with the core values of our organization, Beyond Learning. Our philosophy involves recognition of "the need for synergistic teamwork at all levels of the community or institution to accomplish the ultimate goal of empowerment for positive growth. Our mission, as a service provider, is to inspire and motivate productive positive changes in both individuals and organizations." For us, being able to see an increase in inspiration, synergy, empowerment, and motivation in your institution, business, or even home is the ultimate reward. It's what we are passionate about, and we love to see results.

We carry out our philosophy through all of our various services. Besides "Get Inspired," Beyond Learning offers a wide range of clients the following services to help organizations or people fulfill their capacities:

- Training, workshops, and team building activities for employees, schools, and other organizations
- Educational management and leadership consultation
- Awareness programs and interventions
- Life-skills and character building programs for youngsters

Contact us or visit our website to find out more about any of our services. We are always ready to hear from you or answer your questions.

Make Your Inspirations

Choose from the range of styles and sizes to best fit your space. We use an elegant black background and frame. This gives both the photographs and messages the greatest possible emphasis and keeps the overall style neat, modern, and attractive. The 'Get Inspired' motivational frames are handmade in Lebanon, using quality printing techniques and premium materials.
